We find the accounts of the Selectmen and Overseers of the Poor correctly cast and properly vouched.

F. L. OWEN,
JOSEPH TENNEY, } Auditors.

We would further say that the amount of indebtedness incurred by this town on account of war expenses, to be assumed by the State under the act of June 1870, as settled by the commissioners to be paid to this town by State Bonds, amounts to $12083 33

which as an asset deducted from the reported indebtedness of the town, will leave as the balance of town debt.

F. L. OWEN,
JOSEPH TENNEY.

The Selectmen would remark that the bills for the support of the poor, aside from those supported at the Town Farm, are unusually large. Mr. Withington being so unfortunate as to have his leg and arm broken, his case was attended with heavy expense. We would also express our obligation to Mr. James Eastman for his kindness in bestowing much time and attention upon Mr. Withington, in his sufferings, without fee or hope of reward.

REPORT OF THE
SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE,

For the year ending March 11, 1871.

The Superintending School Committee respectfully present the following report :—

General report of schools in District No. 1, by their Superintending Committee :—

In District No. 1, there have been maintained during the year, two schools, graded in respect to the age and progress of the pupils. There have been three terms, each of thirteen weeks. The number of pupils in both schools has been between eighty and ninety ; usually over fifty in the school of younger pupils, and varying from thirty to forty in the advanced school. The latter school, for the first and second terms, was taught by Miss Alice C. Campbell ; during the winter term by Mr. J. P. Otis. The primary school was taught by Miss Rosena R. Campbell, during the spring term, and by Miss Martha E. Benton during the autumn and winter terms. All these teachers have been diligent and faithful.

The amount of money for school purposes in the District for the current year was $1052 00. Amount paid to teachers was, for the first term, to one lady teacher eight, and the other seven dollars per week ; to the same teachers, during the other terms, eight dollars per week ; and to the male teacher, during the winter term, sixty dollars per month.

HENRY E. PARKER,
JAMES HAUGHTON.

DISTRICT No. 2.

Had three terms, and three teachers. The teachers appeared well, but the term in winter, for some reason, was not so profitable. As the Register has not been received, the names of the teachers cannot be given.

DISTRICT No. 3.

Miss Emma E. Camp was employed six weeks in summer, but her sickness, and that of some of the scholars, prevented the school from being what it otherwise would have been.

Miss L. Estabrook spent four weeks in winter, and left, feeling herself unequal to the task.

Miss Sarah A. Mason was then employed for 6 weeks. Some of the scholars made good improvement, others failed to do as they might, and ought, to have done.

DISTRICT No. 4.

Miss M. L. Philbrick succeeded well in her labors for ten weeks, and gave good satisfaction.

Mr. A. Archibald labored faithfully twelve weeks in winter, and with very good success. Nearly all the pupils made good improvement. A class in Colburn's did very finely. Some attention was given to Algebra, Physiology, and Book Keeping.

DISTRICT No. 5.

Miss M. P. Whipple was employed for two terms, of eight weeks each, and discharged her duties faithfully, and successfully.

In winter, Miss L. A. Storrs had charge of the smaller scholars for nine weeks. No one could labor more faithfully than she did, and her success was very good. The order might have been better.

Miss Emily Owen had charge of the larger scholars for the same length of time, and succeeded beyond the expectations of many. She spared no pains to make her school a success. With few exceptions the older scholars honored themselves by their deportment, from first to last. Several have a clean record for the term, and for all the terms in the year. Seventeen are marked above the average in moral deportment, and thirteen in habits of study. Only two below. A fine record this for such a school, with so young a teacher.

Algebra, Philosophy, Geometry, and Rhetoric, were among the studies to which attention was given.

DISTRICT No. 6.

Miss Flora J. Kinnie was employed six weeks, when sickness broke up the school.

In the fall, Miss S. A. Mason, for ten weeks, rendered such good service, that she was engaged for the winter term. After two weeks, circumstances beyond her control led her to leave. Her labors were a success, every way considered.

DISTRICT No. 7.

Has been among the most fortunate for the entire year, in teachers, scholars, parents, and friends. All seemed to labor for the good of the schools. Of the 30 weeks of schooling Miss Ida J. Kellogg kept 20, and Miss H. N. Bailey 10. Both teachers acquitted themselves well, as did nearly, if not quite all, the pupils.

DISTRICT No. 8.

Miss E. J. Tilton rendered good service for six weeks in summer, and Miss S. O. Hatch, for twelve weeks in winter. Small as this school is, there are some fine scholars in it. The pupils of Miss H. always seem to be interested in their studies, and always do well.

DISTRICT No. 9.

Miss S. Nichols taught ten weeks in summer, and in most respects did well.

Miss Eunice E. Johnson made her first attempt at teaching here in the fall for nine weeks, and with very good success.

DISTRICT No. 10.

Miss L. A. Storrs was employed ten weeks. The school, at the close, appeared well, and very orderly.

Miss E. Liscom taught twelve weeks, and somehow she created an enthusiasm in her pupils, that we seldom see in our schools. They were wide awake, and spelled admirably.

DISTRICT No. 11.

Miss M. Cross served six weeks in summer, and Miss L. E. Tilton seven in winter. Miss T. always does well.

DISTRICT No. 12.

Miss Louise M. Goss taught six and a half weeks, when her sickness closed the school. She did so well that it was thought best to employ Mrs. Louise M. Bryant for twelve weeks in winter, who seemed to do as well as Miss G. did. Few, if any, of our schools, have done better than No. 12, the year past.

DISTRICT No. 13.

Miss F. G. Hurlbutt served successfully eight weeks in summer and Miss O. S. Hatch the same time in the fall. Miss H. drilled her class in Grammar with great success. They handled the verb very finely.

In winter Miss J. S. Bailey did her best for five and a half weeks, and left; when Mr. L. C. Hurlbutt was employed six weeks, with very good success.

DISTRICT No. 14.

Miss S. W. Hurlbutt spent eight weeks, and Miss E. E. Camp twelve weeks in this school, to very good advantage indeed. Few schools have been better instructed than this, the year past.

DISTRICT No. 15.

Miss Roxa M. Stetson spent a week in this school, and left. Mrs. L. M. Bryant succeeded her, and labored with her usual success for ten weeks. This is enough to say of any school.

DISTRICT No. 16.

Miss E. J. Tilton did good service in this school, for ten weeks, and Miss S. W. Haskins for eight weeks. Miss H. seemed to have more than usual energy, and was particularly exact in her teaching.

DISTRICT No. 17.

Mrs. Ruth Clark has again been employed for the year in this school. What she does is done well. The school house is beautiful in its proportions, and admirable in its arrangements, an honor to the district.

DISTRICT No. 18.

Miss Flora J. Kinne was employed twelve weeks. She is ready for any call, and needs no key to help her solve any difficulty a pupil may bring her. The school appeared well.

REMARKS.

In our schools are some very fine scholars. Not a few are nearly masters of the National Arithmetic, and have given attention to Algebra, Philosophy, Book Keeping, etc.

As a whole, our schools have not been quite as good as they were last year. A single wayward scholar harms a school not a little. It is hardly possible for a teacher always to be wise in dealing with such a scholar. He trespasses just as far as he dares to, takes the advantage whenever he can, and is liable to be corrected when he does not deserve it half so much as he has many a time before. Every child should understand that he cannot attend school to disregard its regulations. If he will not study, and obey, the school room is no place for him.

Some teachers are not born to rule. It is not in them to maintain good order, excellent as they may be in other respects. First class teachers, in sufficient numbers to instruct our schools, cannot be had for the wages we pay.

Parents, scholars, and friends, then, must unite with our Teachers to make our schools excellent, or many of them will be only fair, if not poor. Make not a teacher an offender for a mistake, or an error in judgment, unless you wish to throw away your school money, and train your children to be anything but noble men and women.

The writing in our schools is generally poor. With Potter & Hammond's writing books, or the Spencerian system, I think it may be much improved. I commend them to the attention of teachers, parents, and friends.

To history but little attention is given. Anderson's School History is one of the best to be had. I am sorry to say that many of the Registers are filled out so imperfectly that it is difficult to make a report of the schools according to the laws. With the Teachers to be had, our schools can be made excellent, only by the united efforts of all who have to do with them.
